FOREWORD

The fundamental purposes of this publication are:

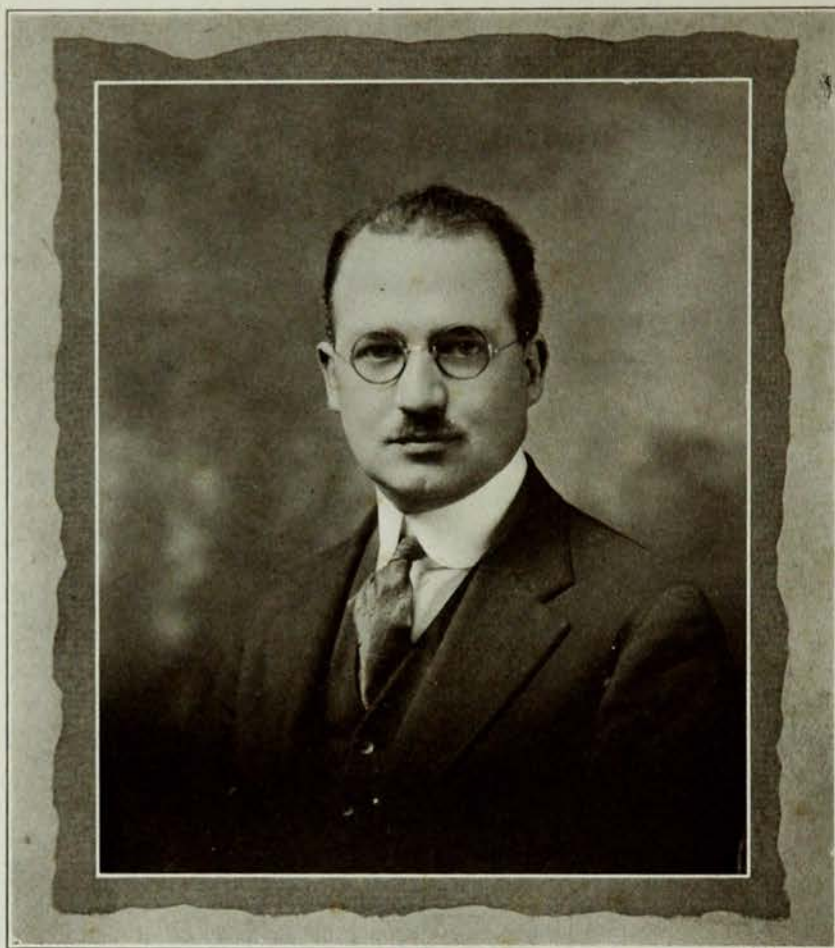

To present to our fellow students a diary of their achievements in academic work, athletics, and social life during the past year;

To record incidents in university life that will probably awaken the remembrances of some old university student to a full realization of his college days;

To impress upon the people of this great nation of ours the importance of a liberal education;

To herald forth to students all over the world the vast personal benefits to be derived from a university education.

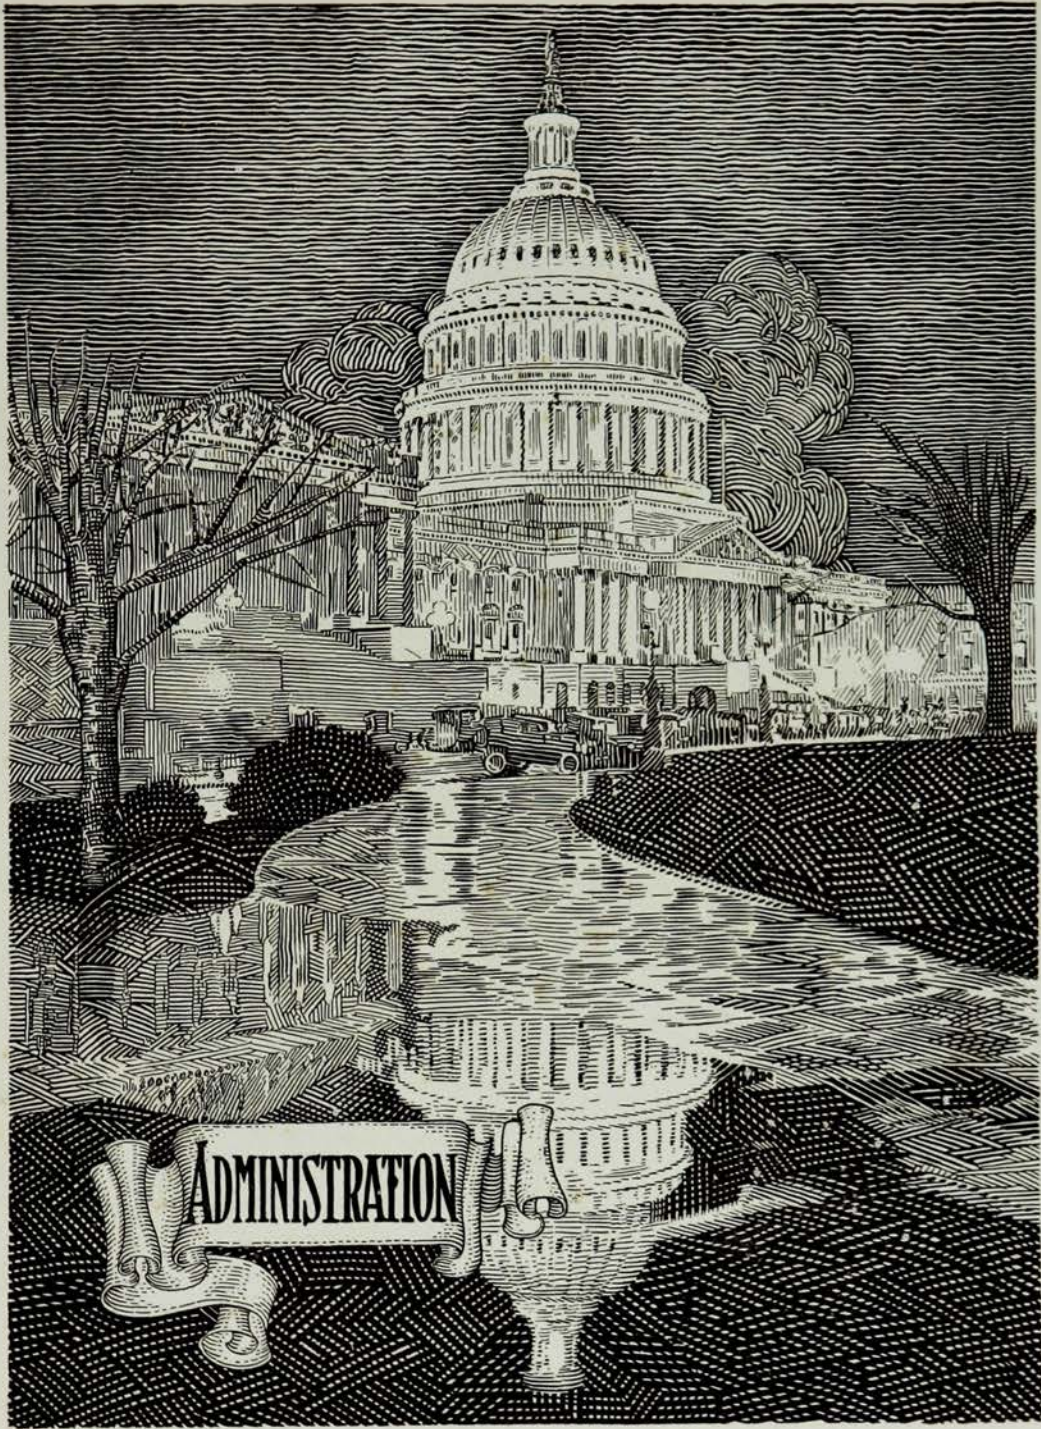

If we accomplish some of these things our efforts will not have been wholly in vain.

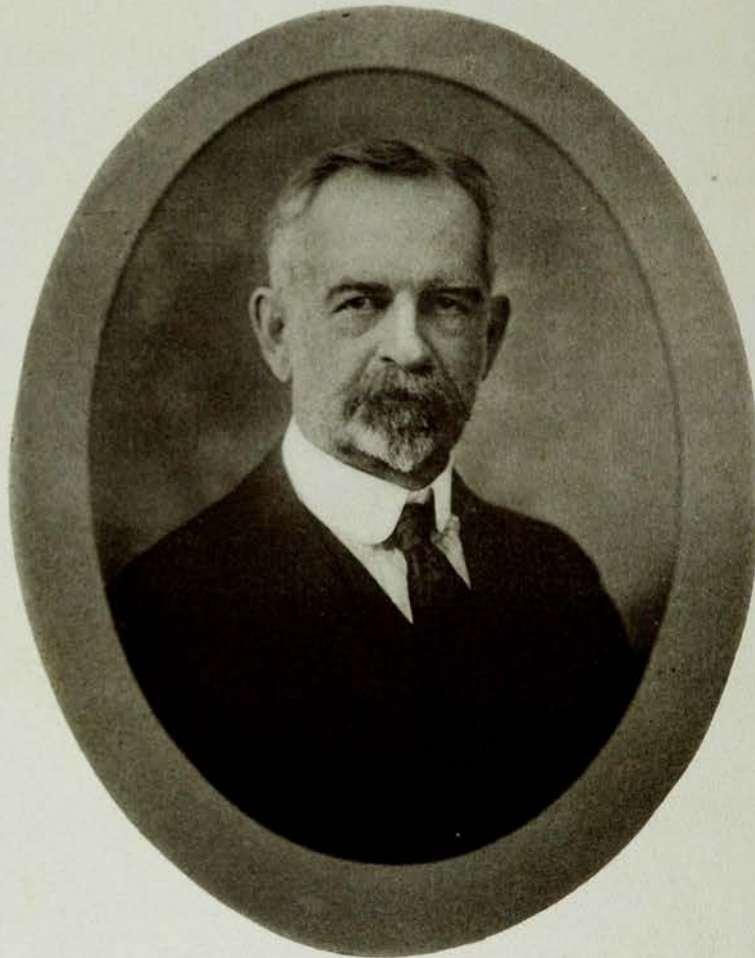

TO

HENRY GRATTAN DOYLE

A true gentleman, a real scholar, a friend of the student, and above all, a man—a man who has won the respect and admiration of all with whom he has come in contact—this, the Nineteen Twenty-Two Cherry Tree, is dedicated, with the esteem and admiration of the editors.

Football, 1921

COACH Bill Quigley, former star fullback at Pennsylvania, turned out a Hatchetite football team this year of which the school may be justly proud, considering the fact that this is the second season since the revival of football as a major sport at G. W. The year's record was much better than that of last year, and was the result of the untiring efforts of the coaches, the squad and the managerial staff. Better practice hours were arranged and more experienced material was available this year than last.

The stone wall defense shown by the line was as good as that of any team seen on local gridirons in the past few seasons and helped to offset a seeming lack of punch on the offense. Time and again highly touted backfield stars hit the line and heard the birdies sing "They shall not pass." The forward passing game was the team's most successful weapon on offense.

A hard schedule was played, and Georgetown and Virginia were handed a surprise when held to four touchdowns apiece. Scoring a touchdown in the first quarter of the Catholic University game, we lost by a score of 19 to 7, the defeat being largely due to the running of Curran, C. U.'s brilliant halfback, and cleverly executed split plays which completely baffled the Buff and Blue.

In individual brilliancy few men in this success surpassed Ptak, end; Highes, center; Jawish, guard; Crouch, halfback, and Licaricne, fullback. These men were all deadly tacklers and could be depended upon to fight for every point. Ptak, a lanky lad from Arkansas, was a star at receiving forward passes, and Hughes at center could snap the ball to the backfield and get down the field under punts and tackle the receiver in his tracks. Crouch showed remarkable ability in finding holes in the opposing line and going through for gains.

The men awarded letters were: Springston, Capt. Ptak, Connolly, Jawish, Hughes, Mulligan, Hawley, Shaw, Hart, Crouch, Loehler, Manson, Banville, Owens, Wells and Manager Clark.

FOOTBALL LETTER MEN

BASKETBALL

The Buff and Blue tossers were considered one of the strongest defensive quints in the South Atlantic this year and showed up well against some of the best teams seen on local floors during the season. All home games were played at the Coliseum and were well attended. Captain Jack Daily, veteran guard, was one of the most consistent players in the District and instilled a brand of pep into the team that made up in fight what it lacked in weight.

The varsity included the following men: Gosnell, Chesney, Bracklow, Woodberry, Altrup, Daily, Hughes, Hyde and Grove. Fitz Hurley proved a very capable manager.

Handicapped by being forced to use unsuitable gymnasiums, and those gymnasiums only in the afternoons, and by the illness of the coach, the girls' basketball team has had a rather successful year. They engaged the teams of universities both in this city and in the neighboring cities, teams that were stronger and have had the advantage of comparing favorably with them in all these contests.

It is hoped that next year suitable gymnasiums can be arranged for and that while the weather permits that the team will be enabled to practice out of doors in the newly acquired Woodhull property.

Track Team

Coach Morse has only two letter men on this year's squad, but the new men furnish the most promising material ever trying for a Hatchette track team. The team entered the Georgetown games on March 3, and while no brilliancy was evident the boys showed potentialities that ought to surprise our rivals in later meets.

The other meets in which we have entered are as follows: Quadruple meet, April 22, in which Georgetown, Catholic University and Maryland are entered; Penn relays, April 25; American Legion meet, May 6, and the South Atlantic meet at Charlottesville. With a little more training our sprinters and hurdlers will eat the dust of none but the best in the section. Some of the new men have ability in the distances and will undoubtedly win letters.

The squad consists of Manson, Tolson, Peake, Tracy, Haines and Hammack from last year and several new men, including Rowe, Nichols, Marra and Quenlin, who are showing up very well.

Manager Turner and his assistants are working hard, under great difficulties, to secure adequate facilities for practice.

Men's Tennis Team

W. B. GLOVER, Manager; GEORGE COYLE, Assistant Manager.

Although as the Cherry Tree goes to press the tennis season has a month or more before it gets started, the team is prepared for a busy and successful season. We have Capt. Ladd and Ballinger from last year's team, and a number of promising candidates for the vacancies on the team. These include Newby, Rutley, Grove, Black, Wormhoudt and Glover. A spring tournament will be run off this year to discover any other talent, and at the same time provide the tennis enthusiasts in the university a chance for some competition. The team will miss Aten, Somerkamp and Lloyd from last year.

Manager Glover has arranged a fine schedule which opens up with a trip to Lexington, where Virginia Military Institute and Washington and Lee will be played. Georgetown is then to be met at its courts on the Hilltop, following which we entertain Washington and Lee here. Our hardest week then follows, during which we play Navy at Annapolis, University of Southern California here, and Lehigh here. Southern California, our hardest match, will be played on the Dumbarton Club courts, which have been courteously offered. The schedule winds up with return matches with Virginia Military Institute and Georgetown. Matches are pending also with the University of Virginia and Catholic University.

WOODFORD BREWER MARKLEY ROBSON

Girls' Tennis Team

The girls' tennis team has not engaged in interscholastic competition for several years, but has devoted its attention to holding tennis tournaments in the spring and fall among the girl students of the university. The winner of each of these tournaments receives a trophy which is hers until won by another girl in a subsequent tournament. Should she be successful in winning this tournament three consecutive years it becomes hers. The trophy is a silver loving cup offered by Columbian women.

It is hoped that the opening of the tennis season next year will see a team representing the university competing in matches with the teams of other universities and bringing laurels to G. W. U.

Wrestling

In keeping with the general expansion of student activities at George Washington University there appeared this year for the first time in many years a wrestling team. At the beginning of the year, backed with a promise of support from Captain Hundley, May, Bruce and Corbin, James C. Hatcher went before the Student Council and recommended that the university be represented in wrestling. Hatcher was appointed manager and coach, and with a small nucleus for a beginning there was soon a squad of twelve.

Owing to wrestling being merely an experiment the first year it was thought inadvisable to have more than two or three meets. Two meets were scheduled with Gallaudet College.

On the seventeenth of February our team met Gallaudet on their mat. At that time our men were not in the best of condition and we lost two of the four matches by falls, another by decision, and won one by a fall.

On March fifteenth the Gallaudet matmen were our guests, and we entertained them very highly by taking four of the five matches. Our fifth man, Stokes, outclassed his man all of the way, only to be thrown during the last half minute of the match.

May was the only man to go into the South Atlantic amateur meet. He made a wonderful showing during the fifteen-minute match, and the decision against him proved very unpopular with the audience.

Letters were awarded to May, Hundley, Tyler and Manager Hatcher.

We made a wonderful start, and next year our team will enter into competition with several universities, under the leadership of Corbin, manager for 1922-23.

G. W. U. Rifle Club

The work of the Rifle Club, which was organized last year, for the present term began with the opening of school in the fall. During September, October and November the team practiced on the National Guard Range at Camp Sims, in preparation for the D. C. open championship match, held on November 20. The G. W. team carried off first honors in this event by a margin of two points over the National Capital Rifle Club, whose team holds the Civilian Rifle Club national championship.

During the indoor season it was found impossible to secure range facilities necessary to the entry of a G. W. team in the intercollegiate championships; this was a great disappointment since the team was of championship caliber, much better than the G. W. team of last year, which took second place in the national indoor championships; nevertheless, the team members kept in form by shooting temporarily as members of the National Capital Club, and a match has been arranged with Georgetown, at present the leading team in the intercollegiate championships.

Through the mutual efforts of G. W. and the Naval Academy a tournament will be held at the Naval Academy range during May. This event will bring together the five leading college rifle teams of the country to decide the outdoor championship, and G. W.'s veteran team appears to be the favorite in this tournament.

The squad from among which competitive teams have been or will be picked includes Stokes, Espey, Trimble, Barry, Greely, Everett, Barkman, McNish, Smith and Haworth.

Girls' Swimming

The swimming team was fortunate in obtaining the use of the Central High School pool in which to hold practice on Friday night of each week. They have been specializing in diving and special speed strokes and have made very creditable progress to date. About the first of April instruction was commenced with a view to acquainting the team with the requirements of the Red Cross for membership in the World's Life-Saving Alliance.

In the South Atlantic championship meet, held at Baltimore, George Washington won second place in fancy diving. In the Pantathlon, held at Philadelphia, George Washington won fourth place in the life-saving contest.

An interclass meet has been held at which time the team gave an exhibition of their work of this year. The last of May the long-distance swimmers will compete with the hope of equaling the world's record in distance swimming. During the summer the several members of the team will represent G. W. U. in all outdoor meets held in the vicinity, and it is expected that a good many victories will be brought back in the fall.

The team under the leadership of Beatrice Woodford, manager, is rapidly approaching a high degree of proficiency, which means that George Washington is going to be a strong contestant for many honors in the near future.

Athletic Resume

ATHLETICS at G. W. are on the boom. This year the school has been represented by teams in football, basketball, track, rifle, tennis and wrestling, all of which have had successful seasons. Since the appointment of a Director of Student Activities, the increase in the financial support afforded by the student activities tax, and the enrollment of more students in the day classes who can engage in competitive athletics, we have made rapid strides toward the goal of our sporting ambitions. The goal is to be able to put teams in the field composed of men who have complied with the strictest eligibility rules, that can cope with our local rivals, Georgetown and Catholic University.

In football we scored 137 points to our opponents' 89, and four of our men, Hughes, Jawish, Ptak and Crouch, earned places on "All D. C." elevens. The men's basketball team won eight of fourteen games and Daily, Gosnell and Hughes made "All D. C." quints. The rifle team carried off the District championship and includes Stokes, a world's champion. Wrestling in its first year bids fair to become a leading sport of the Buff and Blue. The team lost its first contest, but is steadily improving, having won five out of six matches in its last meet. The tennis team is sure to shine, since a majority of last year's starts are on the squad. The track team also includes several experienced men and has entered some of the biggest meets in the country, including the Penn relays, in which it expects to make a good showing.

For the past two years G. W. has conducted a South Atlantic Interscholastic Basketball Tournament, which has had an influence toward bringing promising high school athletes to the university. This year's tournament was won by Loyola of Baltimore, one of the strongest school-boy teams ever seen in Washington.

While intramural athletics have not gained much prominence, the interfraternity leagues in bowling, basketball and baseball furnish peppy contests that receive enthusiastic support and do much to develop athletes of university caliber.

School spirit is increasing and the cheering was better this year than ever before. Harry Sokoloy, composer of our football song, "The Buff and Blue," has given us a song with a swing that instils pep and fight into the team, the rooters and the neutral spectators. Our yelling and singing at the Georgetown and Catholic University football games was as good as that of our rivals, and though we lost the games, the rooters stuck with the team till the final whistle blew.

Next year the Buff and Blue teams are sure to improve on past records, since sports will be on a firmer footing, and veteran material will be available in all branches. The George Washington-Georgetown football game on Thanksgiving Day will probably be the feature of next season's grid card, and will eventually develop into the South Atlantic football classic if our team continues to improve as it did this year.

There is a movement on foot to place athletics in the hands of an athletic association, controlled by the faculty, alumni and students, similar to those controlling athletics in other large universities. This would leave other student activities in the hands of the Student Council, and separate athletic benefits from other benefits derived from the student activities tax, and should be an improvement over the present system.

Athletics this year were under the supervision of Bryan Morse, Director of Student Activities, the Board of Managers and the Athletic Committee of the Student Council, all of whom deserve credit for the services rendered the school.

Girls' athletics in the university have been keeping pace with the other university activities during the present period of rapid growth and expansion. The field of their participation in athletics has broadened, more girls have come out for the teams, and a better, more interested spirit has been manifested. Basketball, swimming and tennis comprise the fields in which they have been engaging and in each the improvements both in the playing and in the morale exhibited has come up to the university's fondest hopes.

ORGANIZATIONS

Board of Managers of Student Activities

HE Board of Managers of Student Activities consists of the Director of Student Activities, three members of the faculty, two alumni members and two students. The Director of Student Activities is the chairman of the board; the three faculty members are appointed by the president of the university; the two alumni members are appointed by the George Washington University Alumni Association, and the two student representatives are chosen by the Student Council.

The board was created in May, 1920, to take over the functions formerly exercised by the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, and has for its purpose the encouragement, direction, control and accounting for such activities. Its powers embrace supervision over all financial matters pertaining to student activities, including allotment of the student tax.

The Law School Senate

Due to the rapid growth and expansion of the Law School through the masterly efforts of Dean Ferson, need arose for a separate governing body of this department of the university, and to meet this need the Law School Senate was created. It is composed of a member of the faculty, an alumnus and three members from each class. Its past accomplishments merit the prophecy that the benefits of its administration will continue to reflect credit upon the organization.

The Student Council

THE Student Council, organized in 1916 for the purpose of stimulating interest in student activities and aiding in the financing of all athletic endeavors, now really functions, by reason of added responsibilities, as a representative advisory body on all activities. There is vested in it the power to appoint managers and assistant managers of the various branches of athletics, the editors and business managers of the various universities. Its jurisdiction also extends over freshman activities pending class organization. In short, to it is committed the duty and privilege of inducing and fostering interest in all university activities of athletic, social and literary nature. To the present council may be attributed, among other things, a successful voluntary student tax campaign and the adoption of an honor constitution.

The majority of its members are elected by popular vote of the various colleges of the university, there being three from Columbian College, three from the Law School, two from the Medical School, two from the Engineering School and one each from the Teachers', Pharmacy and Graduate schools. In addition to these there are five members at large who receive their appointments from the Board of Managers of Student Activities. The editors and business managers of publications and the athletic managers are ex-officio members of the council.

The council is now preparing to submit a plan contemplating complete student control of activities. This plan includes provision for an Athletic Council as well as a Student Council, and if its plan be approved and adopted, the members of the present council will feel that they have not lived in vain.

Columbian Debating Society

After a period of uncertain progress during the years of the late war and of improvement during the seasons just past, the Columbian Debating Society entered upon the present school year with renewed hope, higher aspirations and still greater ambition for the advancement of forensic art.

Attendance upon meetings this year has been consistently good and the debates well prepared and convincing. The enthusiasm and success manifested in the work is evidenced by the fact that three of the society's newest members succeeded in capturing places on the university's debating teams. These have done honor to the society in its effort to promote the art of public speaking and afford training for prospective varsity debaters and embryonic lawyers.

The custom of devoting a part of the meeting to the study of parliamentary practice and procedure has been inaugurated this year, beginning at the second semester, and this departure from the usual program has proved helpful and interesting.

The Young Women's Christian Association of George Washington University came into being as the result of a feeling on the part of many students that an organization offering opportunities for Christian service and for the development of Christian character was needed and desired.

The association was formally organized November 6, 1921. Since that time meetings have been held every Monday after chapel, each unique in its interest. On two occasions special speakers were provided for chapel and work varied enough to meet the talents of each girl has been carried on by the committees. The membership is close to sixty and still increasing. Application for affiliation with the national student organization has been approved.

This club, organized March 1, 1921, under the name of the Ohio Club of George Washington University Law School, is distinguished by the fact that it is the first of its kind to be organized in the history of the university. Its purpose is twofold: First, to place the school before the public eye of Ohio, and second, to acquaint its members with the law and practice of their home state. The ground work of the club's publicity in the State of Ohio has been laid. In consequence whereof the club looks forward to being able to show definite results in future years.

Recognizing the desirability of a close coördination between the study of the law and an understanding of the statutes of their own state, the Utah students of the law school, on October 4, 1921, organized under the name of the Utah Legal Club of George Washington University.

Lectures on the law and practice of their home state have proved popular and instructive and the club has every assurance of a most successful future.

The Tyler Club of the George Washington University Law School

IN the early spring of 1921 a group of first-year law students who had been associated in the study of various phases of the law, and who had found the association and dissemination of ideas mutually helpful, decided to organize themselves into a permanent body to continue the work already undertaken. Accordingly, a meeting was held and out of the meeting grew an organization known as the House of Representatives of George Washington University. The original membership was about twenty.

During the present year the members expressed their desire to be chartered as a regularly recognized student activity, and to this end sought the advice of Dean Ferson. For obvious reasons it was thought best to change the name of the body, and it was subsequently changed to the Tyler Club, which met with the approval of Dean Ferson, and the organization took its place among the student clubs.

El Circulo Espanol

DIGNA de encomio es la labor que el Círculo Español ha llevado a cabo durante su segundo año que en nada ha desmerecido a la brillante labor del año precedente. Los cursos de conferencias celebrados han tenido un éxito complete. Eminentes literatos y distinguidos politicos aceptaron la invitación de este Círculo para traer ante los miembros, una autorizada y competente exposición del arte, historia, literatura, vida y costumbres de los pueblos hispanos. La popularidad y el renombre que con estas conferencias el Círculo ha obtenido es altamente encomiástico.

Pero no se han limitado las actividades del Círculo a esta provechosa labor educativa. De acuerdo con los fines para que fué formado, de combinar la vida social con la parte instructiva, se ha dedicado especial interés a las diversiones y entretenimientos. Se han celebrado fiestas como "Las Fiestas de las Flores," en la que la mayoría de los asistentes lucían vistosos trajes españoles, resaltando la mantilla y la peineta, viéndose flores por doquier, completando el programa bailes, música española, juegos y otras diversiones propias del caso, todo genuinamente español, dejando en la mente de los que asistieron la impresión de haberse hallado por unas horas en una de las clásicas fiestas de la Sevilla auténtica. Otras varias fiestas y bailes tuvieron no menos éxito.

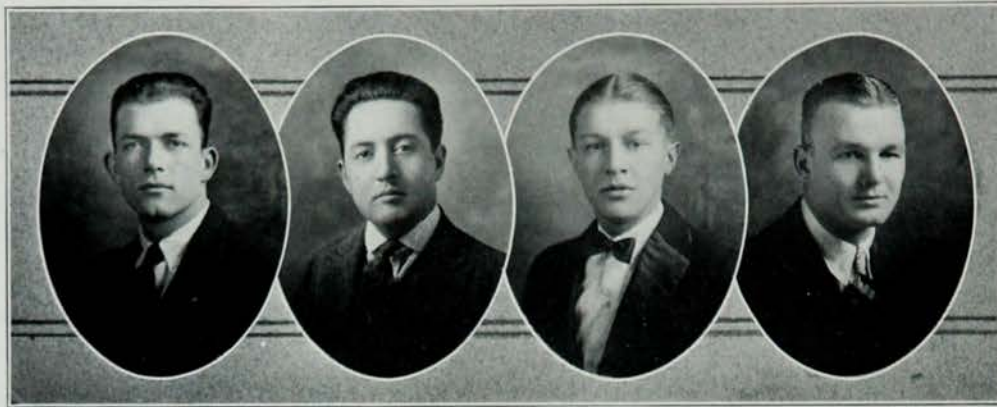

Justo es consignar que el éxito obtenido se debe al incansable entusiasmo demostrado tanto por la Junta directiva como por el resto de los miembros.

Hoy, sin duda alguna, el Círculo Español ocupa uno de los primeros puestos entre las diferentes actividades de los estudiantes de esta universidad. Para todos ellos es familiar la importancia del Círculo.

En vista del éxito lisonjero obtenido, no es aventurado afirmar que la labor del futuro continuará siendo tan provechosa e interesante como hasta ahora lo ha sido y que el desarrollo de los planes que se tienen en proyecto, no serán sino un número más de éxitos que agregar a la ya larga cadena de los obtenidos.

The Ancient, Independent and Effervescent Order of the Yellow Dog

The Ancient, Independent and Effervescent Order of the Yellow Dog was founded some fifty odd years ago in the most prominent of our Southern clubs, and has expanded and flourished until now members of the famous order can be found in every prominent club and university in the United States. The George Washington University Kennel was installed in October, 1921. The order is based upon the principles of friendship, fidelity and fun (the most potent of which is fun) and seeks to inculcate in its members that unflinching and time-honored faithfulness of the yellow dog—faithfulness to your brother, your university and your country.

Interfraternity Association

HE Interfraternity Association is composed of delegates from the several fraternities, and has for its object the promotion of friendships, good fellowship and coöperation among the fraternities of G. W. U. The association regularly conducts bowling, basketball and baseball tournaments among its members, each fraternity being represented by its own team. At intervals during the school year the association gives formal dances for the members of the fraternities which compose it. The work which the association is doing to further the interests of G. W. is noteworthy and commendable indeed.

The Pan-Hellenic Council

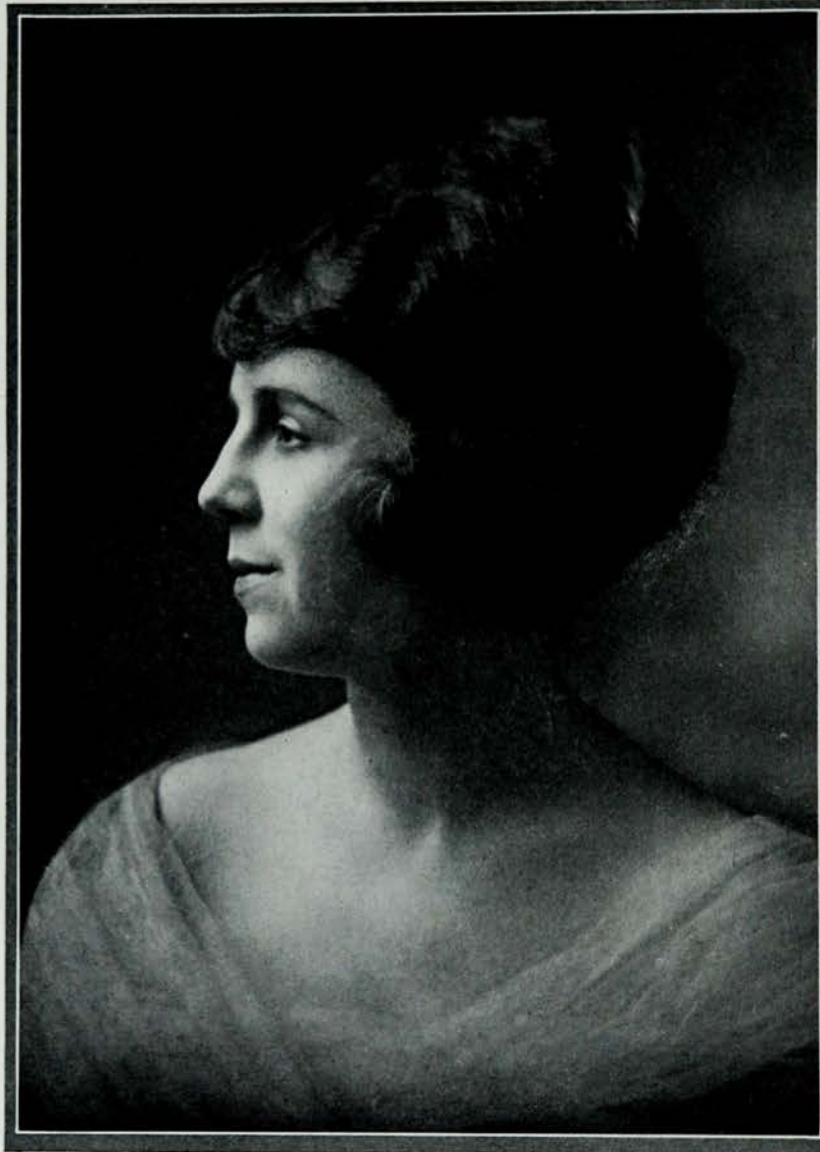

THE Pan-Hellenic Council is the organization formed by the sororities of the university to further the interests of the several departments of the school by affecting a closer coöperation among the sororities.

It is the practice of the council to annually award a trophy to that sorority attaining the highest average scholarship during the year just past. The competition for this award is very keen indeed, and it serves as a stimulus to the members of the several sororities to put forth their best efforts to bring the award to the sorority.

The activities of the council are not, however, confined solely to the promotion of good scholarship among the girls of the university. The council annually holds the Pan-Hellenic Prom, which holds the highest place in all the sorority activities of the year.

The Friars

Gather Around, Greeks, While We Sling the Hammer!

IGMA CHI, composed of retired politicians, while having left the lime-light has not moved clear out of the city. Shades of Gene Underwood! Where are the presidents?—the managers?—the councilmen? The boys have deserted politics for athletics, but their years of training at the Mexican variety assure their success.

Kappa Sigma, the fraternity founded by Adam before he lost his rib. They never forgave Adam for surrendering the rib and have sworn never to carry a lady to any social affair or to doll up just to catch the feminine eye. Therefore, street clothes and fancy neckties at all formal affairs.

Kappa Alpha, founded at Monte Carlo—and they still live up to the ideals of the founder. The neighbors have decided that the members are designated by serial numbers and that the most popular boys are numbered seven and eleven.

Theta Delta Chi, out of the running since the passing of Janney Nichols and Detlow Marthinson and the unfortunate date when some scallawag piped the tuxedo and headed south with it. It's a shame that Adam didn't found this fraternity, too, so the pajamas would do for dress clothes, and then the boys could have been photographed in full regalia.

Phi Sigma Kappa, the controlling political party on account of their vast membership, which includes the majority of the voters of the school. They are also able to maintain the largest hotel in the city, fully equipped with all modern conveniences, including a combination ballroom, gymnasium, art gallery and shower bath (rainy days).

A Gateway to Progress

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battle ships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.

membership should borrow an automobile, drive up in front of the house, honk fourteen times in rapid success, and someone will surely come out and climb in, and dub you Sir Knight of the Jeweled Heart.

Sigma Nu, the Volstead Club, located in Temperance Row next to Kappa Sig. Conscience stricken, the boys confessed their sins, and the hush money was enough to furnish the whole house with new rugs. A very well-oiled machine. Yes, oily—indeed oily—in fact—the whole can.

We'll leave the professionals to your tender mercies, dear reader, and we know their looks and actions will bring them razz enough.

Our Sororities

NOW ye, gentle reader, that a sorority is a transitory stage through which quite a number of co-eds pass, that ninety-nine per cent of the sisters have a batting average about as high as a gnat's ear, and that they try to raise and otherwise improve their rep by secretly calling themselves fraternities.

Pi Beta Phi boasts of having the greatest number of Tomatoes on its rolls in the U. It controls feminine politics through its numbers, and has for its motto, "We're ladies even though we're Pi Phies."

Chi Omega confidently expects legal difficulties, judging from their newly pledged lady lawyers. Maybe this action was taken because of the activities of the sisters as strikebreakers, etc.

Sigma Kappa's popularity as a "goat refuge" is increasing, owing to the masculine attendance at their initiations. The sisters have put up a strong fight for the scholarship cup. They always entertain the faculty at their dances and teas.

Phi Mu has a specially reserved section at Child's for its members. No Phi Mu ever goes out in the evening without visiting that emporium of wheat cakes. They always carry Mad-Money, too—they're such a scrappy lot.

Alpha Delta Pi harbors those who claim to be of the elite, but they're just social climbers. But honor to whom honor is due. They changed the big four to five all by themselves.

Phi Delta Delta shows remarkable reticence on the subject of their own achievements. They boast of their high attainments even to the university hatchet.

Kappa Beta Pi has become synonymous with Sarah Tilghman and with the women's bureau of the police department.

OUR LOCALS

"Dear Susie!"

DEAR SUSIE:

As has been remarked, G. W. is the place for the social hounds. There they flourish in all their glory, be it the formal or the informal sort of glory, and luckless is he or she who is so unfortunate as to have to remain home and study one night in each week.

Of course, as per usual, the fraternities and sororities broke forth first, and judging from the multitudes of neophytes soon listed, their several styles of rushing produced some of the desired fruit. They pulled everything from smokers to formal dances, supplemented by tea fights and inspection parties, and I have it on good authority that there were at least three students who were not under surveillance during this time.

The first all-university affair was the football hop. It was some party! A few couples danced—but I'll have to withhold comment on the rest. Joviality and back-slapping seemed to be the features of the evening. The chief excuse for the dance was to give the letter men their sweaters, and the rest of those present felt as though they needed sweaters, too, to protect them from the dampness.

El Circulo Espanol was the first of the organizations to blow themselves socially. They staged "La Fiesta de Flores," and their decorations in the old chapel so enlivened the place that those students in attendance hardly recognized the rogues' gallery. Then, too, these senors and senioritas broke out in their best Spanish duds and looked so nifty that most of them didn't recognize each other.

Then the Christmas holidays intervened and offered numerous excuses for the several fraternal organizations staging another round of special parties. They held them everywhere they could get in.

And then, after the worries of examinations, Junior Week came with its reception, prom and concert. The class pulled the reception in the ballroom of the Willard, and because of the popularity of the affair were forced to take turns in dancing. Yes—the crowd was real nice, even though it did step on your feet a few times oftener than you could yourself.

The Prom was a real party!! 'Long about quarter of ten the chariots of the select began to tear madly up to Rauscher's front portal and deposit the fair ones and their swains. The committee must have busted themselves in decorating the place because you couldn't turn around without seeing a palm, fraternity banner or a bunch of buff and blue. After the dance had been running a while the class president insisted on holding the grand march, and a few marched but didn't get anywhere. From ten to two the orchestra squeaked and groaned and growled and giggled in wild syncopation, and the juniors did their best to make use of every note.

The girls had all been saving for their new party dresses, and believe me, they sure looked scrumptuous. There was every color of the rainbow and some not in the rainbow made use of, and where one color didn't suffice they combined two or three in cheerful bliss, absolutely disregarding the effect of contrast. The poor men presented the usual somber background.

The Glee Club concert and dance wound up the week's jollification. The club sang to its heart's content and the audience discreetly applauded their efforts. Of course, the real reason for the picnic was the "hereafter" (the dance), and it was all the success the reception and prom had been.

The big surprise of Junior Week was the Razzberry, which first appeared at the reception. It was satire personified. It made fun of everybody and everything worth while in the university, pointing out various incongruities and inconsistencies and elaborating on the weaknesses of devious and sundry organizations.

Things then quieted down for a period, no doubt to give the finances of the male portion of the students a chance to recuperate from the strains of Junior Week, only to break forth again in the two Greek parties, the Interfraternity Prom and the Pan-Hellenic Prom. The Interfraternity was pulled on March twenty-third and the Pan-Hell party on the thirty-first.

The he-male Greeks staged a nice little party for the faculty at their prom. Everybody was there, particularly the profs of those Greeks who wanted to pass in the May examinations. It was a dry time indeed, but of course everyone had a very lovely time—everything was so sweet.

The Pann-Hell party also was a perfectly wonderful affair. The lady Greeks invited all their best beaus and wore their new spring dresses. A wonderful combination, absolutely irresistible. Trust the girls to have beautiful affairs, not only from the standpoint of their own looks, but from the efforts they made to make Rauscher's look exceptionally nice. It wasn't quite "three o'clock in the morning" when they left, but it was pretty near it, and not many classes were attended the next day.

The Girls' Glee Club also made their debut to the public gaze this year and gave a very creditable (the tickets haven't all been collected for yet) concert into which they introduced several dance numbers. I'm not certain but that they expect the Men's Club to follow suit at their next outburst but, just between you and I, I hope that they don't.

Even the staffs of the publications haven't been able to withstand the enticements of the dance, for they, as a body, have given several very nice affairs. They even pride themselves that their affairs are quite the best of any of the informal dances given at C. W., but we have our doubts.

And, while they are only tentative as yet, there are plans being laid for the usual relieving of the pent-up spirits of the Greeks in their post-examination celebrations, and we confidently expect a great depression in the financial status of many of our socially prominent immediately thereafter.

I've just got to stop now because Jack's waiting. Yes, we're going to a dance—just an ordinary fraternity affair, you know.

'Bye,

HETTIE.

We'd "Pass Out" If

Anything important was done at Student Council meetings.
Bryan Morse gave credit to someone else.
The Pyramid elections suited everyone.
Law school politicians took a vacation.
Class meetings were really attended.
We really had a musical comedy.
President Hodgkins spoke in favor of a compulsory tax.
The Ghost printed some real snappy jokes.
Tex Nall's chariot had a bath.
Phi Sigma Kappa won a cup.
The Delts got chummy with their neighbors.
Kappa Alpha quit moving around.
Prof. Collier passed by a girl without speaking.
G. W. U. had a baseball team.
The editor had plenty of copy.
We saw Dean Ferson nursing a grouch.
A dance was run without Howard Espey as chairman.
We saw Ham Owens' car parked on G Street.
Some of these auto owners offered us a lift.
The Cherry Tree came out on time.

At the football hop we noticed that several members of the faculty looked very chilly. How did they know things were going to be so damp? They forgot their umbrellas and rubbers. Some fellows forgot everything—even the way home! Good spirits were in abundance. It was a wild and stormy night. Some were staggered, others staggering. After it was over some adjourned to Childs'—and others with pomp and dignity to court.

Her spouse rebuked her as she swam

The Why and Wherefore of Some of It

YEP! We made every one of them there pitchers for a reason. Maybe it warn't much of a reason, but jes' the same we had one. Take that there Ex-Libris stuff fer instance. They're real pretty, ain't they—they're jest to git yuh interested, they bein' sorta unfamiliar scenes. 'N then there's that Administration page, it's unfamiliar too, ain't it. Yuh see the inmates o' that place think as how they run things anyway, so we sort o' thought we'd use that pitcher of their house.

That there portrait labeled Seniors is an exact likeness drawn from life. Yes suh! The Junior one is too—that's the official uniform fur juniors, and it was chosen because most o' the members o' the class wear that thing all the time, even to bed. That Sophomore feller is tough, I tell yuh. They sure do have a hard time livin' up to their reputation, so we're tryin' to help 'em out. That's little Willie we drew for the Frosh pitcher—it's the first time his mother has let 'em get that fur from home. Cute, don't yer think? Jest like the rest o' them children. The football artist went cuckoo. That there bird on the ball ain't no dove o' peace, it's a crow.

'N say, didja ever know any publication that didn't have somebody a-yellin' about it all the time. Honor societies jest had to have a serious subject for its title page. I tell yuh it's a serious thing when you get into one of those honor societies—everybody then an' there begins to say as how you're a politician and other things not as nice. Maybe it's true.

Organizations is another pretty pitcher. It fits, don't it? Ain't nature grand and at the same time a pretty well organized society? We sorta thought so, but you'd better be careful or the water in that there lake or whatever it is 'll run out.

That Fraternity page is the prize o' the lot. Sure is a fittin' piece o' work. The lady's head was left off 'specially 'cause it don't take no head to get into a fraternity—takes one to keep out. Then, too, them wings is sorta fittin'—them fraternity people and 'specially the female of the species are a mighty high flyin' lot—sorta flighty, you might say. The sororities didn't need no pitcher; every one o' them gals is a pitcher—have lots o' local color, so t' speak. The feature section head is real nice, too, ain't it? Just what we needed to start the slams off with.

There! You've got it in a nut shell. Look at 'em again, they can stand it—they're made that way. We ain't sayin' a word, you'll notice, 'bout the photograffs—we jest had to take them as they came. Sorta pitiful lookin' crowd as a whole, don't you think? Anyway lil' Johnnie's fond mamma and pretty Susie's daddy'll like 'em, even if they don't like the ones we drewed.
